Veterans for Peace gather to support the Black Lives Matter movement on the National Mall.

The Wall of Vets joined the Wall of Moms and other supporters of Black Lives Matter in front of the Justice Center in Portland on June 1.

Healing ceremonies can be powerful forms of nonviolent resistance.

How cultural rituals and practices are being used to disrupt violence.

The Interceptor November

Philosophy:

Training workers and helping them organize.

team helping non-union

The Wall of Vets joined the Wall of Moms and other supporters of Black Lives Matter in front of the Justice Center in Portland on June 1.

The veterans organizing to stop Trumpism

Deep in the military-industrial complex, Alabama

Led by Black women, organizers in Georgia work to

The veterans organizing to stop Trumpism

Another Portland veteran connects with local Black Lives Matter groups

Meanwhile, individual members are connecting with local Black Lives Matter groups to see what's needed on the ground. David Smith of

The veterans organizing to stop Trumpism

Veterans have been involved in the movement since before June 1, when protesters were tear-gassed in multiple cities, including in front

The veterans organizing to stop Trumpism

Veterans answered the call with some vigor. African-American

The veterans organizing to stop Trumpism

Veterans from across the country have been messaging me this week, asking about

The veterans organizing to stop Trumpism

African-American veterans answered that call with some vigor.

Veterans from across the country have been messaging me this week, asking about

Veterans from across the country have been messaging me this week, asking about

Veterans from across the country have been messaging me this week, asking about

Veterans from across the country have been messaging me this week, asking about

Veterans from across the country have been messaging me this week, asking about

Veterans from across the country have been messaging me this week, asking about

Veterans from across the country have been messaging me this week, asking about

Veterans from across the country have been messaging me this week, asking about